When he resigned his pastorate, he took up his residence at Easthampton, Mass.

The Whiting Family is one of the oldest and most respected of New Haven families. The following item is quoted from the Genealogy of the Ingersolls, of Hampshire, by Lieut. Charles Stedman Ripley, U. S. N.:

"Jared, born June 3, 1722, son of Mr. Jonathan Ingersoll, and Sarah, his wife, married Hannah Whiting of New Haven, daughter of the Hon. Joseph Whiting of New Haven, August 1, 1743. Col. Whiting was a son of Rev. John Whiting, fourth minister of Hartford, Conn., and Phebe, his wife, daughter of Thomas Gregson of New Haven, and grandson of Hon. William Whiting, one of the first settlers of New Haven.

"Jared Ingersoll and his wife, Hannah Whiting, had two children, James and Jared. The latter graduated at Yale College in 1766, and was an eminent lawyer of Philadelphia, member of Congress, and of the Convention which framed the Constitution. In 1812 he was the Federal candidate for the Vice-Presidency; resigned the office of Attorney-General of Pennsylvania in 1816; died Oct. 31, 1822, aged seventy-three; was at that time Judge of the United States District Court of Pennsylvania."

Their children:

   (Both died the same day, and were interred in one grave.)
5. Mary Catherine.

24562. Clarissa Ely, daughter of William Ely (2456) and Clarissa May Davis, was born Jan. 1, 1814, and was married July 3, 1831, to David Chittenden Collins, who was a son of Alexander Collins and Elizabeth Watkinson, his wife. Alexander Collins, son of General Augustus Collins and Mary Chittenden of North Guilford, born 1774, died 1816, married Elizabeth Bliss Watkinson of Lavenham, England, who died